

Employees Attrition & Tenure Overview

- Attrition refers to employees leaving a company.
- Tenure is how long an employee is with the company, whether he left or still with the company.

1470

Total People Employed

237

Left the company

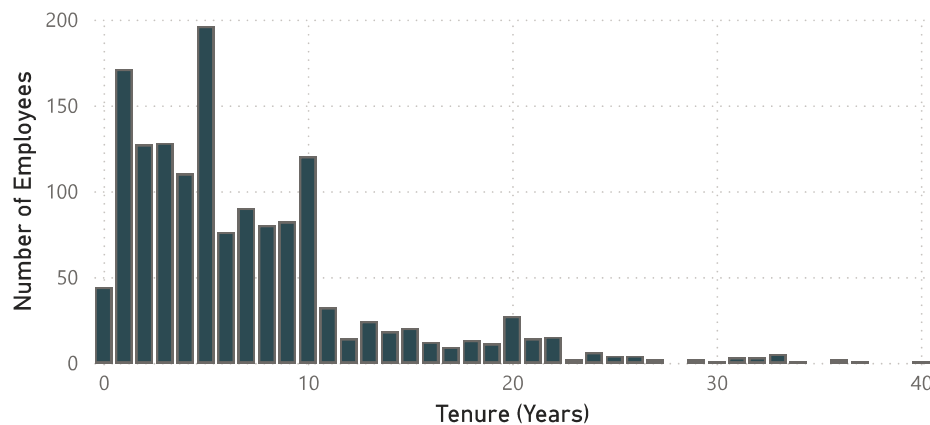

162

Left Within 5 Years

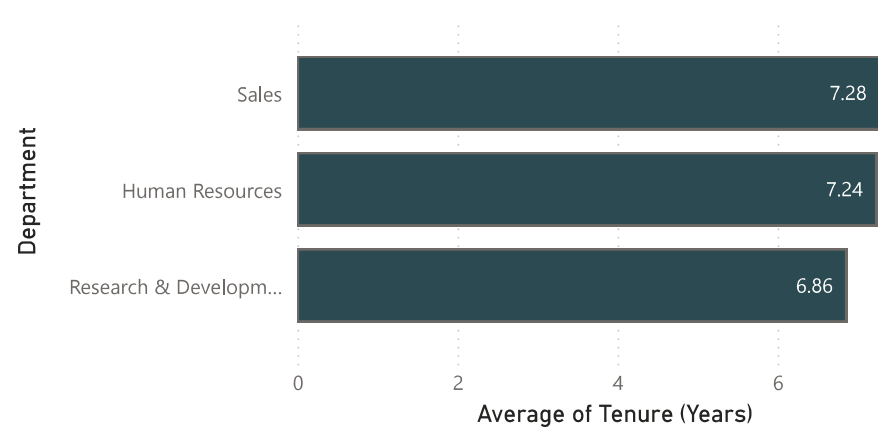

16.12%

Attrition Rate

Tenure Distribution

Tenure by Department

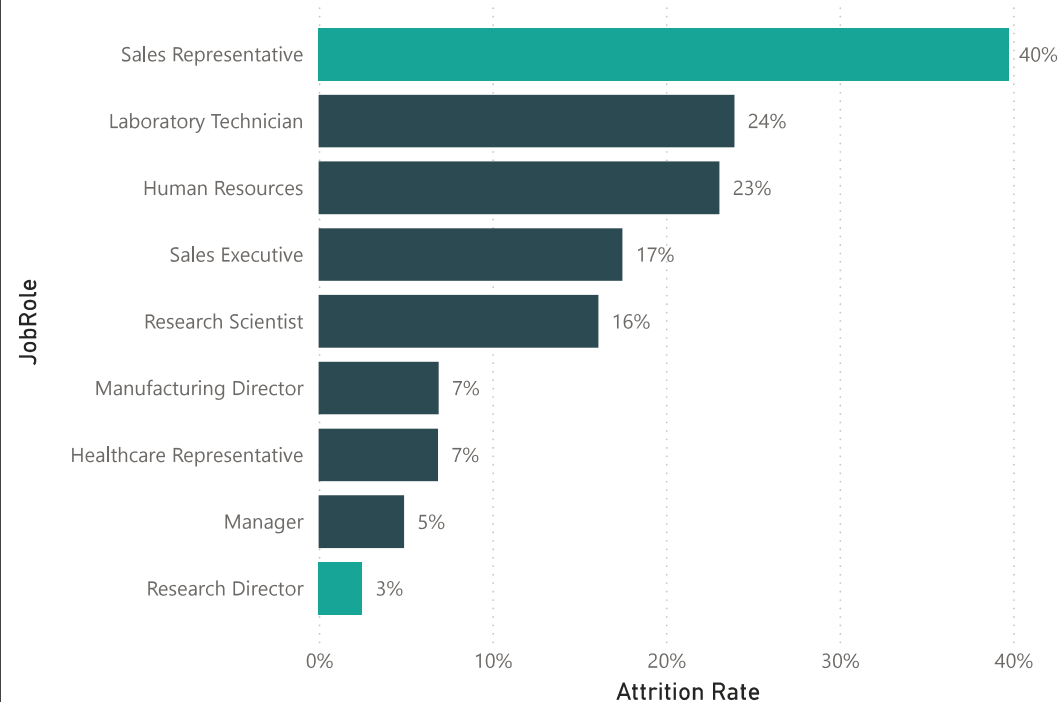

- 53% of the workforce have 5 or fewer years of Tenure with the company.

Attrition Analysis - Sales Representatives

- A deep-dive into why is attrition rate so high in Sales Representative roles.

Attrition Rate by Role

- Sales Representatives leave at 16x the rate of Research Directors despite similar number of employees.

Distribution of Job Level

- Sales Representatives are mostly entry level employees, the same job level associated with the highest attrition rates.

$6.5K

Avg Monthly Pay

2.19

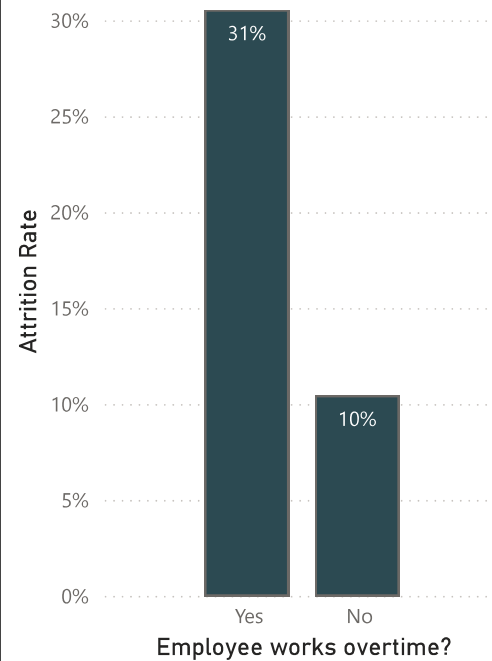

Yrs Since Promotion

- Sales Representatives earn significantly below the company average of $6.5K.
- Sales Representatives are promoted roughly every year on average, but high attrition suggests promotions aren't enough to retain them.

Attrition Analysis - General Factors

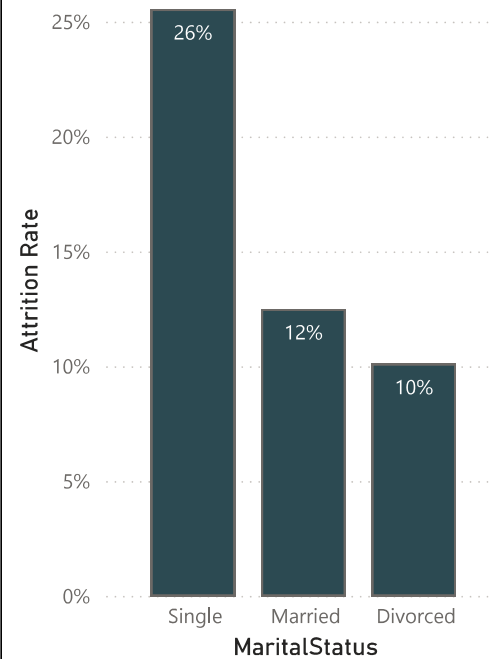

- A deep-dive into the potential reasons that cause Attrition rate to increase

Overtime Effect

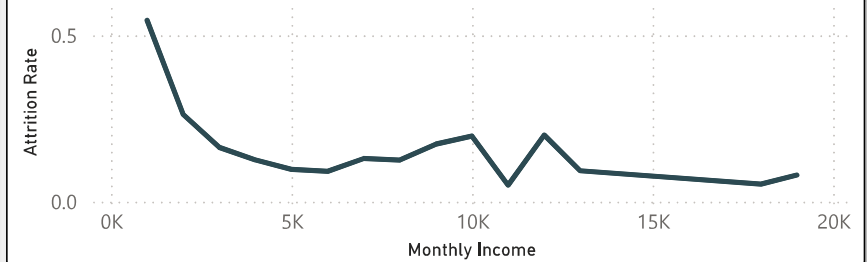

- Overtime workers leave at 3x the rate of non-overtime workers.

Marital State Effect

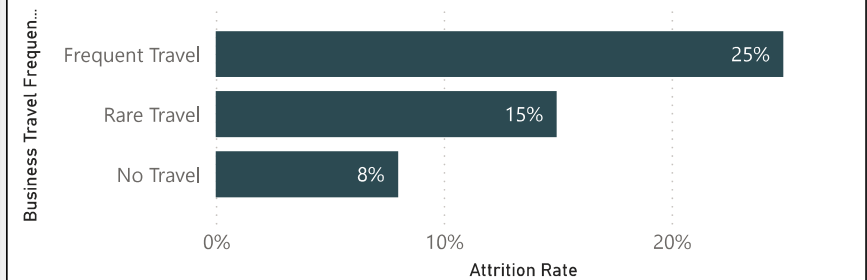

- Single employees leave at more than double the rate of married and divorced employees.

Attrition rate by Monthly Pay

- Employees earning under 5K monthly are significantly more likely to leave.

Attrition Rate by Business Travel Frequency

- Frequent Travelers leave at 3x the rate of non-travelers-25% vs 8%.